I was born in Guatemala at the height of a 36-year civil war, during the short but consequential dictatorship of Ríos Montt. An outspoken Pentecostal and a former army general, he was tried for genocide even while some – including a number of Christians I know – continue to defend his legacy as an upstanding godly leader.

The Land of Terror, alternately the second book and the eighth book in the long-running Doc Savage series, was one of the most sought-after books in my small town when I was in seventh grade. Two of my buddies and I looked in every used book store and spinner rack we could find for a copy of that elusive book back in the day.

'The Land Of Terror' was Doc's 2nd "recorded" adventure and contains so many of the elements that I enjoy in a Doc story, the dinosaurs in a "lost world", Doc's ultra-human characteristics emphasized, prominent characterization of the Fab Five and the GANGSTERS!! (I just LOVE gangsters in the Doc stories).

The Land of Terror isn't one of Dent's best Doc Savage novels, but it is certainly strange enough to warrant a reading. The story, involving pirate ships, dinosaurs, prehistoric beavers, a villain named Kar, and Kar's mysterious "Smoke of Eternity"--which has the power to dissolve any known matter save a rare metal substance--is about as insane as it sounds.
