Morton Deutsch Some time ago, in the garden of a friend's house, my 5-year-old son and his chum were struggling over possession of a water hose. (They were in conflict.) Each wanted to use it first to water the garden.

(They had a competitive orientation.)

Cooperation is as much a part of capitalism as competition. Both are essential elements of the simple system of natural liberty, and most of us spend far more of our time cooperating with partners, coworkers, suppliers, and customers than we do competing. Life would indeed be nasty, brutish, and short if it were solitary.
